

THE POWER OF YOU!

The power of this great Union was on full display during our most recent National Convention which convened in Chicago, August 22nd through the 28th. Local 308's delegation (Pictured with National President Paul Hogrogian and National Secretary-Treasurer Mark Gardner) included members of your Local Union Council along with Brother Quentin Seth from Delaware. Almost three hundred delegates from all fifty states attended the week-long event, which included important discussion and debate and ultimately voting over changes to our governing documents, the National and Uniform Local Union Constitutions. Details and photographs of each day's activities are now available on line at www.npmhu.org

Held every four years, this year's theme centered on you, the member, with your and our collective power at its focus, where it belongs. The Power of You is what fuels this great Union as we rely on each other to protect and enhance the rights we have fought so very hard for over decades of struggle. There was truly an unmistakable spirit of Unity, Democracy, & Strength that permeated the Convention as the delegates charted the course of the National Postal Mail Handlers Union for the next four years. The delegates also resoundingly endorsed Hillary Clinton for President of the United States in this year's election .

National President Hogrogian reported to the Convention that the State of this Union is great and that he expects that a Contract should be available very soon for a ratification vote. As a reminder, members will be given a chance to review the proposed agreement and vote to accept or reject the new Contract. If the Contract is rejected then it will be scheduled for arbitration. As always if you have any questions or concerns regarding any Union related matter please do not hesitate to contact this office.

In Union Solidarity,
John
